

Await End To Strike

Pickets on the Missouri Pacific Strike Area Halt Trains Again

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16—(AP)—Prospects of an early settlement in the week-old Missouri Pacific railroad strike faded today.

Representatives of the four striking brotherhoods turned down a management plan to end the walkout yesterday.

At the same time they submitted a counter plan of their own. But after a one and a half hour session, Guy A. Thompson, trustee of the railroad, said: "I personally can't see that we have made any progress up to this point."

The dispute is over 282 individual claims involving interpretation of operating rules. Five thousand trainmen are on strike and 20,000 other employees of the Missouri Pacific have been laid off.

The management proposal was that the strike be called off and the dispute settled in this manner:

Pay some claims, negotiate others and refer others, including major ones, to agencies specified in the national labor act. The brotherhoods agreed to withdraw 82 grievances but balked at sending the men back to work.

Appeals to Unions
Today Thompson appealed by letter to the striking unions, suggesting that both sides call on President Truman to appoint a board to iron out the difficulties.

Thompson said he would consider any of the workers' claims, or grievances, "in an earnest effort to determine if any are meritorious."

In Little Rock, Ark., Gov. Sid McMath proposed a conference of governors of the 10 states affected by the strike. He suggested to Gov. Forrest Smith of Missouri that the chief executives meet in St. Louis "not later than Monday in an effort to end the walkout."

Smith told McMath he is in accord with the idea and that he will check the status of negotiations before calling such a meeting.

Five thousand trainmen are on strike against Missouri Pacific.

The dispute, involving interpretation of operating rules, has idled some 20,000 employees of the Missouri Pacific railroads.

Pickets Halt Trains
Pickets in the Missouri Pacific railroad strike again have halted trains of the St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) line.

Spokesmen for the four brotherhoods striking against the MoPac said today the picketing was a mistake. But it was still on at noon and the Cotton Belt was forced to reroute its freight trains over Illinois Central tracks to Memphis.

The line's two daily passenger trains between St. Louis and Dallas have been canceled.

Under a leasing arrangement, the Cotton Belt uses Missouri Pacific tracks from a point near East St. Louis, Ill., to Illinois, about 125 miles south of here.

When the strike began last Friday, pickets stopped cotton belt trains on this stretch for 24 hours in the belief the line was moving Missouri Pacific freight.

Union leaders termed this "a regrettable mistake" and ordered their pickets not to interfere with Cotton Belt shipments.

But picketing was resumed at these points last night, halting Cotton Belt shipments to the south west.

Violating Orders
R. E. Davidson, union spokesman, said the pickets are violating orders in stopping the trains. This view also is shared by Brotherhood officials in Cleveland.

In response to a telegram from Cotton Belt executives the Cleveland union leaders said the picketing was a misinterpretation.

The Blue Streak, fast Cotton Belt freight train carrying merchandise to Dallas and Fort Worth was stopped by pickets shortly before midnight last night one

Green Lights Still Burn Along Lines

LITTLE ROCK, Sept. 16—(AP)—Electric block signal lights still show green over the idle Missouri Pacific system.

George Gray, electric shop superintendent here, said the signal lights were left on as a maintenance measure. "They automatically switch to batteries if the current goes off, and if we turn them off, it would use up reserve electricity in the batteries," Gray explained.

A Decontrol Rent Meeting Hits A Snag

Loran Transue, K. C. Tells of Organization; Was The Chairman

A meeting of the Friends of the American Constitution was held in the Assembly Room of the court house, Thursday night with Loran Transue, president of the organization from Kansas City presiding.

Mr. Transue opened the meeting by introducing members of Kansas City chapter that accompanied him to Sedalia. They were: Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Nicholson, of Grandview, and Miss Ruth Alexander, the chapter's secretary.

There were three speakers who talked chiefly on the rent decontrol act, although the Brannon farm act and several other issues were discussed. Mr. Transue, the principal speaker carried on a lengthy lecture on repealing rent control. Miss Alexander and Mrs. Nicholson followed with talks advocating the rent decontrol act and killing of the Brannon farm plan.

Tells Of World Government
During his talk, Mr. Transue told of a meeting held in Havana Cuba before World War II, at which time a charter was set up for World Government. He went on to tell of some of the provisions of the charter and what this World Government would consist of.

At the conclusion of the talk, Royal Cowger, of the Sedalia Teamsters Union asked Mr. Transue, "who were these people that held this meeting in Cuba?" and then asked "who was there from the United States?" Mr. Transue answered the questions by telling Mr. Cowger he could go to the Library and find out.

At another point of the question and answer part of the meeting, Harry Hull, president of the Central Labor Body, AFL, stood up and said, "I'm proud of this government. We elected this form of government, let's don't tear it up."

While Hull was on his feet, Lloyd King stood up and said, "these fellows are just trying to break up the meeting."

The session of cuss and discussion went on and several more questions were asked and opinions voiced.

Try To Elect Officers
The meeting was attended by more than 200 persons, and when questioning and answering period began to be drawn out, several started to leave. It was announced that election of officers would follow and those who cared to remain and help organize a chapter in Sedalia could do so.

When the election began about twenty-seven persons were present.

Lloyd King was nominated to become president and there being no opposition he was named.

Other officers were left open when several declined to be nominated or appointed.

After the meeting Mr. King told a Democrat-Capitol reporter he was interested only in rent decontrol act and not the actual organization. He said that he would not want the office of president unless he knew more about the organization and had the support of the people of Sedalia.

Appointment Of Ilgenfritz Is Rejected

Disapproved as To be Head of the Munitions Board

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—(AP)—The Senate today rejected President Truman's appointment of Carl A. Ilgenfritz, U. S. Steel Corp. official, to head the Munitions board.

It voted 40 to 28 to disapprove Ilgenfritz for the post.

The opposition was chiefly a protest against White House-approved plans for Ilgenfritz to continue drawing a $70,000-a-year salary from the steel company while serving in the government post.

Senator Byrd (D-Va.) who led the fight against confirmation of the appointment contended that would establish a dangerous custom under which big corporations dealing with the government might be allowed in the future to subsidize government officials.

Byrd said he was not questioning Ilgenfritz' character or abilities. But he noted that U. S. Steel has an important stake in military orders.

As chairman of the Munitions board, Ilgenfritz would have had charge of advance planning of wartime industrial mobilization, assigning military buying duties and fixing priorities for such buying.

Eighteen Republicans joined 22 Democrats to slap down the nomination. Six Democrats and twelve Republicans voted for the nomination.

In the showdown, most of the southern Democrats voted with Byrd against confirmation. They were joined in several instances by northern and western Democrats who usually support administration proposals.

Expensive to Drive Fire Truck

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 16—(AP)—Traveling by fire truck in Columbia is relatively expensive—about $100 a mile, even without the federal excise tax on transportation.

A university of Missouri student and two young men, one of them a university graduate, found that out in municipal court today after they "borrowed" a Columbia fire truck last night to drive to a suburban night club while firemen were cooling off an overheated furnace at a fraternity house near the university campus.

Fred McDaniel, 21, Lamar sophomore in the university; Richard Smith, 29, Northbrook, Ill., journalism graduate of the university and Peter Schultz, Clovis, Minn., salesman from Northbrook, were fined $100 each for tampering with a motor vehicle by municipal judge Tilford Sims this morning.

He was more lenient than acting city Attorney J. Robert Tull, who suggested a 30-day jail sentence for each along with his fines.

The three admitted driving the fire truck to the night spot after they were taken into custody there and were grilled by police. They said they didn't take the truck until they were sure there wasn't any fire and the firemen wouldn't need it.

First Pep Assembly Held At Smith-Cotton

Smith-Cotton had its first pregame pep assembly at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at which the winner of the activity drive was announced. The seniors won with a big margin of 153%.

The juniors followed with 81%; the freshmen with 61%; the sophomores with 54% and the eighth grade with 48%.

The victory made Joan Cummins the activity queen, with the other class candidates as attendants.

Before these results were announced, Coach Ralph Dow gave a pep talk to the student body. Coach Dow expressed his appreciation for the fine spirit that the student body had shown and went further to ask more co-operation from the students at the football game itself.

He said that the team was doing fine but not to judge it by the playing in the first game, even though he expected it to be good.

He wound up by saying, with more pep from the students and more practice from the team Sedalia would really have a good sports agenda.

Republican State
Headquarters To Open

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 16—(AP)—Republican state headquarters will reopen here Oct. 1 with Joseph McEntee of St. Louis in charge.

He was a 1946 campaign aide of Sen. James P. Kem.

State chairman William F. Phares of Maryville announced the appointment.

Two 'Miracle Men' Brought Together at White House

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—(AP)—Lightfoot Elder Michaux, Washington Negro preacher, brought two "miracle men" together today at the White House.

His "miracle man number one" was President Truman. No. 2 was Master Sgt. James Hendrix, 24, of LePanto, Ark.

The sergeant is the boy who fell 1,000 feet from an airplane Sept. 18 at Fort Benning, Ga., when his parachute failed to open, and survived without an apparent injury.

It was such a "miracle of God," Elder Michaux said, that he sent to Fort Benning to bring the sergeant to Washington to tell his story before a giant congregation in Griffith stadium Sunday night. He also arranged to bring the sergeant calling on Mr. Truman.

Michaux is pastor of "The Church of God of the Gospel Spreading Association." He founded the church about 30 years ago.

When he walked into the president's office, Michaux whipped out a prepared speech and read: "Mr. President, it is my pleasure and privilege to bring together at this time two men made great in the eyes of the world by the power of God."

Overcame Obstacles
"The first, our honorable president, overcame insurmountable political opposition by the power of God and won the November election over tremendous odds.

"And, second, Master Sgt. James P. Hendrix of the air borne battalion, a war-time Medal of Honor winner, who by the power of God, survived an uninterrupted fall of 1,000 feet through space, contrary to all natural and scientific laws, with no apparent physical consequences, to stand here less than one week from the day of his fall to greet you, the second miracle of the 20th century, your election number one."

About his fall, Hendrix told reporters that about 500 feet down his reserve chute opened but promptly collapsed. He said it did slow his fall somewhat. He landed on his back in a plowed field.

It was the second time the president and sergeant had met. On Aug. 22, 1945, Mr. Truman gave him the Congressional Medal of Honor. That was for killing seven Germans, capturing 13, and saving four comrades from a burning tank in the 1944 Battle of the Bulge.

Hendrix is going soon to Camp Campbell, Ky., to join the 11th air borne division. He has been going to jump school at Fort Benning. His "miracle fall" was his 8th jump.

Guilty in Plot
To Overthrow

Rajk Charged With Plot Against Tito Regime

BUDAPEST, Sept. 16—(AP)—A former top Communist leader of Hungary pleaded guilty today to plotting with Yugoslav agents to overthrow the Hungarian government.

Laszlo Rajk, former minister of the interior and former foreign minister in the Communist-dominated Hungarian government repeatedly answered "guilty" as treason charges were read in a Budapest court.

The charges against him and seven other defendants included plotting with representatives of Marshal Tito's Yugoslav government to assassinate leading Hungarian officials. Then, it was charged, Rajk, once Hungary's number two Communist, planned to set up a regime which would be "a colony of Yugoslavia."

Yugoslavia, at odds with other Communist countries, has declared that the Hungarian charges are "lies and slanders." Yugoslavia convicted nine persons charged with spying for Hungary against the Tito regime.

In Belgrade, Yugoslav officials said the Budapest trial was part of the Russian war of nerves against Tito. They said it was staged by Russian satellites as a serious blow to international co-operation and peace.

Set Car Afire; Fined for Burning Rubbish

RESEDA, Calif., Sept. 16—(AP)—Thomas C. Freeman told the judge he'd patched and patched, trying to get his 13-year-old car to run. Finally he gave up, poured kerosene on it and set it afire.

Fifty dollars, said the judge, for burning rubbish without a permit.

Warmer Weather
To Most of Section

CHICAGO, Sept. 16—(AP)—Summer weather returned to most of the central states today after a brief cool spell.

Temperatures headed for the 80s in some parts of the mid-west. Readings in other sections of the country also were expected to be around normal, with the hottest weather in the Gulf and Rocky Mountain states.

Generally fair weather was reported.

Decrease in Traffic Deaths

Captain O. L. Viets of Troop A, State Highway Patrol, reports 1,267 accidents have been investigated by the patrol during the first eight months of 1949, in the 13 midwestern counties, outside of cities of 10,000 or more population.

Sixty-six persons have been killed, a decrease of two for the corresponding period in 1948. There has been 1,010 injuries and an estimated property damage of $524,396.

For the eight months of 1949 in Pettis county the report shows three killed, 63 accidents compared with four killed in the corresponding period of 1948 in 60 accidents. Injuries resulted to 46 in 1949 compared to 45 in 1948.

Henry county had one killed, Lafayette six, Saline four, Johnson six, Benton one.

Mining Crisis Reached

Lewis in Order To Suspend Pay On Welfare to The Miners

Stop Welfare Payments
WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—(AP)—John L. Lewis stopped welfare payments to coal miners today just as 8,000 diggers stopped work in the west.

The western miners said their stoppage was a voluntary one, and Lewis here would not talk about a strike.

The United Mine Workers leader said the halt in payments from the Miners Welfare Fund was due to lack of funds.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—(AP)—John L. Lewis today announced suspension of welfare payments to miners effective tomorrow.

Lewis said the action was due to lack of funds. It was ordered in a resolution adopted at a five-hour meeting of the fund's trustees.

Lewis, speaking briefly with reporters, declined to say whether there would be a walkout in the coal fields.

He also declined to say by what vote the action suspending benefits was taken.

Showdown Near
The trustees met in urgent session amid indications of a showdown over the refusal of some operators to make payments into the welfare fund.

The benefits include $100 monthly pensions for miners 60 year of age or more, plus other forms of welfare benefits.

Senator Bridges (R-H-N.), the neutral trustee of the fund, was with Lewis when the announcement was made. Ezra Van Horn, operators' trustee, had left earlier, declining comment.

Bridges told reporters in answer to questions that he has not resigned as a trustee. There had been advance rumors that Bridges was ready to quit.

The meeting came quickly after Lewis' return from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where the springing of 20 cents a ton royalty payments by some operators put a new complication into negotiations for a coal mine labor contract.

Bridges has been criticized for remaining as a member after it was disclosed that he and Operator Ezra Van Horn, the employer representative, were receiving $35,000 a year each for their services.

Bridges accepted the post 17 months ago and helped break (Please turn to Page 4, Column 4)

Two Dead in Plane Crash

Wreckage Found
By Sgt. Barton in Search by Air

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 16—(AP)—Two private fliers were found dead in their wrecked plane north of St. James, Mo., today.

The wreckage was spotted from the air by Sgt. William Barton in a highway patrol search plane.

The missing fliers were L. E. Salch and Robert H. Sanders, employees of the McDonnell Aircraft company of St. Louis. They took off from St. Louis Wednesday night for Columbia, Mo., by way of Vichy, Mo.

Wreckage was scattered over a 50 to 75 yard wooded area on the farm of William Dieselskamp, about 11 miles north of St. James. St. James is on U. S. Highway 66 about 10 miles east of Rolla, Mo.

Troopers who went to the scene by car said one body was in the wreckage and the other had been thrown free about 30 feet away.

The crash sheared off a big tree about a quarter of a mile from the farmhouse and demolished the aircraft.

Searchers concentrated on the area after a farmer near Rosati, Mo., told the patrol he heard a plane in trouble during a thunderstorm Wednesday night.

Two patrol cars, two Aeronautics Authority planes and the patrol plane combed the rough section this morning.

Discuss C of C
Work Program

The first meeting of the Program of Work committee of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce was held Thursday afternoon in the C. of C. office and formulated from the questionnaires turned into the Chamber of Commerce, a tentative program of work for the year 1950.

Civic activities for the improvement of the town are foremost in the plan outlined. Also included are agriculture, aviation, industrial development, organizational affairs, the Missouri State Fair, public relations, conventions, charities and various other activities.

Members of the committee are Jack Cunningham, C. W. Stephenson, A. W. Haller, Abe Silverman and I. H. Reed.

U. S. Population up
To 149,452,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—(AP)—The census bureau estimated today that the United States population was 149,452,000 on August 1.

This was an increase of 237,000 over the July 1 estimate. At that rate of increase, the population will pass the 150,000,000 mark before January 1.

The August 1 figure represents an increase of 17,782,000 or 13.5 percent, over the 131,669,275 persons actually counted on April 1, 1940, the date of the last census.

Truman to be Home Four Days

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—(AP)—President Truman plans to take a "quickie" vacation back home at the end of September.

Mr. Truman has given the go-ahead for a flight to Kansas City Sept. 29 for a four-day stay.

The main purpose of the trip is to attend a dinner the night of Sept. 29 for William M. Boyle, Jr., the new chairman of the Democratic national committee. Boyle, a former Kansas City police official, is to be honored on that occasion by Democrats and other home town folks.

Mr. Truman plans to remain over in Kansas City and his nearby home town of Independence until Sunday, Oct. 2 and then fly back to Washington.

Aides said the president has abandoned all plans for a longer vacation until Congress adjourns.

Lineup on the Peace Formula By Steel Groups

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16—34—Here is how the five largest steel producing companies line up on the peace formula advanced by President Truman's fact finding board.

1: United States Steel corporation declines to accept the board's recommendation for a 10 cent hourly package, covering company-financed insurance and pensions, if "bit steel" must resume negotiations with the CIO United Steelworkers without being able to bargain on who should pay what costs.

2: Bethlehem Steel Co. says it is ready to resume contract talks. Union officials are trying to determine if Bethlehem is "willing to accept the recommendations as a basis for reconvening the conference." Bethlehem says the proposal to make employers pay the costs "raises a serious problem."

3: Republic Steel Corp. is willing to talk about social insurance and pensions but feels both parties should contribute.

4: Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. is ready to bargain and is willing to pay up to four cents toward insurance. J. & L. believes company and employees should share the costs.

5: Inland Steel wants the union to resume contract talks at once "without reference to whatever U. S. Steel may or may not do." Previously Inland submitted a pension proposal which called for worker contributions. The union rejected the plan.

So far, the union has scheduled no new contract negotiations with any of the companies. It takes the stand that the firms should accept the principle of employer financial responsibility and begin bargaining on that basis.

Saved by Passing Motorists

Still partly covered by wet earth and seated on his bulldozer, William R. Gibson, 24, Lee's Summit, Mo., is supported by firemen as rescuers check his condition. Gibson was buried when a 20-foot embankment in Kansas City, Kas., collapsed, sending five tons of wet earth over him and his machine. Passing motorists, armed with shovels from a nearby nursery, removed most of the dirt before firemen and police arrived. Buried except for the top of his head, Gibson was able to move and free his face enough to breathe until rescued. He sustained severe facial cuts and possible internal injuries. SHE STILL "WANTS TO BE ALONE"—Erstwhile movie queen Greta Garbo plans a comeback with a film to be made in Europe, but to newsmen she's still the camera-shy one. While sightseeing in Rome (left, above), Miss Garbo wore the standard Hollywood dark glasses disguise. Finding this not wholly effective, she turned out for a stroll on the beach near Rome with a new "seclusion" hair-do, right. In addition, there was an escort to "run interference" against photographers. Annoyed by it all, Garbo fled to Paris to make the film, originally scheduled for Italy.

DRAFT "HORSE"—Galloping through the air over Farnborough, England, is the new "Air Horse," produced by the Cierva Autogiro Company. The "Horse" is one of many new planes displayed by the Society of British Aircraft Constructors in a national exhibit.

Accuse MoPac Of Stalling Off Benefits

Head Of The B.R.T. Makes Statement On R. R. Advertisement

CLEVELAND, Sept. 16—(AP)—The Missouri Pacific railroad was accused Thursday of stalling off benefits to its workers by overworking the facilities of the Railway Labor Act.

This statement was made by W. P. Kennedy, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, one of the unions now striking the road.

Kennedy's remarks were made in reply to an advertisement carried in the Cleveland Plain Dealer today, sponsored by the eastern, southeastern and western railroads.

Could Peaceably Settle Dispute

The advertisement stated that the striking brotherhoods could peaceably settle the dispute through the Railway Labor Act but insisted instead on being the "sole umpire."

To this, Kennedy replied: "When the Railway Labor Act was passed, of course, we hailed it and, in most instances, it worked well. But the Missouri Pacific and certain carriers have been doing their best to see that it works for their benefit only to the exclusion of their men, who keep the trains going.

"By refusing to accept the usual judicial practice of precedence, the Missouri Pacific and certain carriers have loaded the National Railroad Adjustment Board, first division at Chicago, dockets up to the point where it takes almost forever to get action. x x

"Merely because the Railway Labor Act is on the statute books does not mean that plain, old American collective bargaining is outlawed. In fact, the only way to have real labor management harmony is to leave the government out altogether—and deal across the table."

"Gang Up" To Support MoPac

Kennedy said the carriers have "ganged up" to support Missouri Pacific, indicating "they have probably decided to make the Missouri Pacific a test case."

In today's advertisement, the Railroad Association declared: "With all of the available methods for the interpretation of contracts, there is no need for a strike or even a threat of a strike. But the leaders of these railroad unions have ignored the ordinary procedures established by law and insist upon imposing their own interpretations of their contracts by means of a strike."

Paratroopers Find Texas Flyers Dead

Find Crashed Plane In Thorn-Covered, Rugged Waste Land

WAYNOKA, Okla., Sept. 16—(AP)—A light airplane missing for a week with two Texans was found Thursday by paratroopers in the sandhills country of north-west Oklahoma. The men were dead.

Five paratroopers from Lowry Field, Colo., dropped into the thorn-covered, rugged waste country to find the crashed plane and the men burned beyond recognition.

The dead were J. W. McBrayer, White Deer, Tex., and William B. Cline, Amarillo, Tex.

Flying From Air Races

They were flying from the air races at Cleveland, Ohio, to Amarillo, when they ran into murky weather in southern Kansas. They were last heard from at Wichita, when they asked for weather conditions last Thursday.

The finding of the bodies today climaxed an intensive search.

Searchers were finally steered to the scene by Darrell Bilyeu, a Freedom, Okla., farmer. Bilyeu, reported that last Thursday he heard the sound of a crash and later saw smoke. However, he said he thought no more about it until he learned of the search yesterday.

The terrain where the plane crashed was so rugged the bodies had to be carried a mile and a half to the highway. Clayton Darnall, who runs a funeral home at Waynoka, said identification of the men was made through dental plates and personal belongings.

Rain Makes Task Difficult

McBrayer's name on the outside of the plane was partially readable.

Darnall said rain of the past few days made the task of carrying out the dead even more difficult.

He said it appeared to him the plane exploded when it hit a sand hill while it was trying to

A Topeka, Kansas Automobile Dealer Has A Tale Of Woe

TOPEKA, Kas., Sept. 16—(AP)—L. C. Barnett, Topeka Automobile dealer, had a tale of woe Thursday.

In a period of less than two year burglars broke into his agency on separate occasions and:

Robbed the cash register.
Made off with six new tires.
Disappeared with a new battery.

Broke open his safe, took all the money and drove away in a car from his lot.

One time they broke in but got nothing.

Tired of it all, Barnett ordered a new burglar alarm, an electro-ate electric eye device.

A burglar broke in—and stole the new alarm.

Progress Slackens In Strike

Brotherhoods Turn Down The Latest Proposals Made By MoPac Management

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 15—(AP)—A fourth conference of both sides ended late today without any prospect of early settlement of the Missouri Pacific railroad strike, now a week old.

Guy A. Thompson, trustee in bankruptcy for the railroad, said "I personally can't see that we have made any progress up to this point."

The dispute is over 282 individual claims, all different, involving interpretation of rules. Five thousand operating employees are on strike, and some 20,000 others have been laid off.

Today the representatives of the four striking brotherhoods turned down the latest proposal from management. The management wanted to end the strike and then settle in this manner: Pay some claims, negotiate others, and refer still others—including the major ones—to agencies specified in the National Railway Labor Act.

The brotherhoods offered to withdraw 82 grievances, but balked at sending the men back to work as the first move in a settlement pattern.

"Reject Your Proposal"

"This conditional offer leaves us no alternative but to reject your proposal," they said in a letter. "It is perfectly obvious to us in the light of past experience on the Missouri Pacific, that if settlement of the more important issues cannot be reached under the pressure of a strike, certainly nothing would be accomplished if that pressure were removed. We say this to you with the full knowledge that five or six years have already been spent in negotiating those same issues without even the threat of a strike."

The union officers asserted that none of the major issues was included in the 59 grievances for which the railroad offered specific plans for settlement. Their letter continued:

"We sincerely feel that if you were serious in your expressed desire to terminate the strike you would at least be agreeable to attempting a settlement through unfettered negotiation of the major issues."

Missouri Pacific officials said 3,300 employees of industrial plants in Arkansas alone are idle as a result of the strike. Thirty-eight plants served by the railroad in that state are closed and 18 more are partly closed, the railroad said.

Threaten Cotton Belt Again
The St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) railroad, whose trains were stopped by Missouri Pacific pickets for about 24 hours last Saturday, was threatened with another tieup.

A spokesman for the Cotton Belt said late today that picket lines had been reestablished at the Maplewood avenue crossing, about 2½ miles south of East St. Louis, Ill.

Cotton Belt trains serving St. Louis run on Missouri Pacific tracks along the Illinois side of the Mississippi river until the tracks cross the river at Ilmo, Mo.

The Cotton Belt canceled its "Morning Star," a passenger train that was scheduled to leave here late tonight for Arkansas and Texas.

A Cotton Belt officer said he had notified E. B. Boggs, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, of the picket lines. He quoted Boggs as saying he was surprised and would try to straighten the matter out.

The Cotton Belt planned to send a freight train out of the East St. Louis yards later to see whether it would go past the picket line.

Republican State Committee To Open Headquarters At J. C.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 15—(AP)—The Republican state committee is reopening its headquarters in Missouri's capital city Oct. 1.

William F. Phares of Maryville, state chairman, said today Joseph McEntee of St. Louis will be in charge of the party offices. McEntee was a lieutenant in Sen. James P. Kem's 1946 campaign. The GOP headquarters will be located on the mezzanine of the Governor hotel as before.

First Pep Assembly Held At Smith-Cotton

Smith-Cotton had its first pregame pep assembly at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at which the winner of the activity drive was announced. The seniors won with a big margin of 153%. The juniors followed with 81%; the freshmen with 61%; the sophomores with 54% and the eighth grade with 48%.

The victory made Joan Cummins the activity queen. With the other class candidates as attendants.

Before these results were announced, Coach Ralph Dow gave a pep talk to the student body. Coach Dow expressed his appreciation for the fine spirit that the student body had shown and went further to ask more co-operation from the students at the football game itself.

He said that the team was doing fine but not to judge it by the playing tonight even though he expected it to be good, because of the limited practice the team has had.

He wound up by saying with more pep from the students and more practice from the team Sedalia would really have a good sports agenda.

He said it appeared to him the plane exploded when it hit a sand hill while it was trying to land. He said the wing and tail were several hundred yards from the plane.

Aaron Fischer, editor of the Waynoka Enterprise, said it appeared to him the plane struck the east side of a small hill and bounced over the top to the west side.

Wreckage of the plane was spotted from the air today by a plane from Lowry Field. Then the paratroopers were flown in.

Pass Reciprocal Trade Agreement

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15—(AP)—The Senate today passed the administration's reciprocal trade agreements legislation without restrictions demanded by Republicans.

The measure, previously approved by the House, goes directly to President Truman for his signature.

The vote for passage was 62 to 19.

In the big test before the final vote, the Senate beat down, 43 to 38, efforts by Republicans to add to the measure their "peril point" plan for restricting the President's tariff cutting powers.

That vote was a straight party division except that three Democrats voted with the Republicans. They were Senators Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado, Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming and Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma.

By a hairline margin of 41 to 40, the Senate also rejected an amendment by Thomas which would have limited oil imports to 5 per cent of the domestic demand.

The measure gives the President authority until June 12, 1951, to make agreements with other nations for a mutual cutting of import duties.

Honor to Miss Rice

Coal Strike Talk In Air

Trustees Of Miners' Welfare Fund Are To Hold A Meeting

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Sept. 15—(AP)—Coal strike talk filled the West Virginia air today. There were those who thought the decision was less than 24 hours away.

Coal operators and the United Mine Workers again wrangled on two fronts—at White Sulphur Springs and Bluefield.

Some union sources hinted privately the "word" might go out tomorrow.

There was nothing concrete, however, upon which to base predictions. Coal miners, now on a three-day week, wouldn't be back at work until next Monday anyway.

UMW President John L. Lewis was in White Sulphur Springs for a session with northern and western operators.

Could Make Operators Pay
He was saying nothing except to repeat that the billion-dollar Cleveland Trust Company could make coal operator James D. Francis pay back royalties if it wanted to.

A union-operator showdown—if it comes this week-end—will be over the payment of the 20 cents a ton royalty which goes into the miners' welfare fund for pensions and other benefits.

It was understood here that the three trustees of the miners' welfare fund are going to hold a meeting tomorrow. Whether it would be here or in Washington was undetermined. The trustees are Lewis, Ezra Van Horn of Columbus, Ohio, operator representative, and Senator Styles Bridges (R-NH), public representative.

Did Not Pay Royalties
Francis, head of the Island Creek and Pond Creek Pocahontas Coal Companies in West Virginia, is among several southern operators who did not pay the royalty due August 20. Lewis sent a second message to I. F. Freiburger, Cleveland Trust chairman, saying that as trustee for the L. E. Holden estate the giant bank could force Francis to make the payments.

Northern and western operators went into session with Lewis and his aides a few hours after a conference at Bluefield broke up once more. Southern coal producers and union spokesmen, who have been holding separate contract bargaining sessions, are to meet again at Bluefield next Tuesday.

The southern session this morning lasted three minutes, just long enough to accept a UMW proposal for another recess.

Red Feathers For Contributors

Warmer Air To Midwest

CHICAGO, Sept. 15—(AP)—A batch of warm air from the southwest headed into the midwest today, ending a mid-September cool snap in many areas.

Temperatures in the 70's and 80's were forecast for some parts of the Rocky mountain and plains states today. The warmer air was expected to extend over most of the north central region by tomorrow.

Generally fair weather was reported across the country. Rain fell in a narrow band from eastern Oklahoma and northern Arkansas northeastward into southern Illinois and southern Indiana.

Red Feathers To Donors

Plenty For All After They're Dyed Proper Hue

The traditional symbol of the Community Chest Drives over the country is the red feather. But red feathers enough to be given to everybody contributing to the Community Chest would cost between $100 and $150 and the committee in charge of the drive just didn't feel that that much money could be put in feathers. Last year the committee substituted little red ribbons, but this year the young women office employees of the Chamber of Commerce had an idea.

They decided to ask some hatchery to donate chicken feathers and the members of the Nu Phi Mu Sorority, of which one of them, Peggy Wall, is president, would dye the feathers red.

Start Color Process
It sounded easy, but the girls had never tried to dye chicken feathers red before. This morning the Chamber of Commerce office became a laboratory. Peggy, with the assistance of Roberta Reed and Lou Goodridge, of the Chamber of Commerce staff, were experimenting with red feather dyeing. All over the office were glasses and pasteboard coffee cups in which were various types of red liquid.

Over the table, too, were white pieces of paper on which were shades of red feathers from a sickly reddish brown to a deep rose pink, but no bright reds. Each paper was labeled. There was one labeled mercurochrome, another red ink, one pint rit, one with red rit—but nothing seemed to do the job. Finally a little mercurochrome added to the pink rit produced a lovely shade of red feather.

The first feathers for the experiment were obtained from the Hildebrandt Produce company, but the girls were needing a lot of red feathers. So they took their problem to Paul Maxwell, of the Rice Lehigh Farms.

Maxwell promised plenty of feathers so Jack Cunningham, chairman of the Community Chest Drive and John Zander, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce went out to the Rice Lehigh Farm where they were given a barrel full of feathers—or three crates—to bring back to be dyed. Maxwell even held up the regular procedure of chicken picking to get the feathers. After the chickens had been stuck some of the men pulled feathers from the wings and tails before they went on into the vat.

Plenty Of Dipping
15,000 feathers, that's a lot of feathers and it's going to take a lot of dipping in a mixture of rit and mercurochrome to make them red.

So, when you contribute to the Community Chest Fund this year and get a red feather, you should wear it proudly because it has taken a great deal of time, patience, of thought and also of co-operation to get that little red feather for you. No matter what your contribution is the feather is worth it with all the worry that went with trying to dye a chicken feather red.

Tigers Win First Game From Marshall

Whitfield, Ruffin Score For Sedalia; Hayes For Marshall

The Smith-Cotton Tigers got off to a good season by overpowering the Marshall Owls, 13-6 in the 1949 Gridiron opener played under the lights of Liberty Park, Thursday night before a fair size home crowd, which packed the bleachers and had them standing on the side-lines.

Kick-off at 8:15 o'clock, was determined, when John Scott, left guard of the Marshall team won the toss from Charles Phillips, right tackle. Bob Ray got first touch of the pigskin by kicking to Marshall.

Marshall Loses Ball
Marshall lost the ball after keeping it four downs. Smith-Cotton took possession of the ball on the 50-yard line, and didn't turn the ball over to Marshall until after they made a touchdown.

Donald Pummill's right half back carried the ball through center for a gain of 27 yards, then on the next play, Bob Ray, full back, carried the ball to Marshall's own 16-yard line. The ball finally reached Marshall's three yard line.

Dale Whitfield, left half back, carried the pigskin through center for the first goal of the game. Whitfield also made the extra point, but the first kick didn't count as the Tigers were off side. Whitfield's second kick was also successful, making the score 7-0.

Marshall made a first and ten after receiving the kick-off, but they were held in the center of the field by the Tiger linemen. Billy McCrary made a nice pickup of Marshall's punt formation and carried the ball from S-C own 15-yard line to the center of the field. After two unsuccessful downs made by the Tigers, the first quarter ended.

The Tigers being somewhat anxious, began to receive many 15 yard set-backs, being penalized for holding in the second quarter. Sedalia's penalties far exceeded that of Marshall's.

After the ball changed hands a couple of times, mostly straight line playing in the center position of the field, Marshall finally came through for a touchdown seconds before the bell rang for the half time intermission. The ball rested on Sedalia's 16-yard line after Ronnie Fidler carried the ball for Marshall from their own 45-yard line. After three downs, the ball was carried through center from the three-yard line for a touchdown made by C. H. Hayes, who was the only Marshall scorer, during the game.

Dougene Yokley was unsuccessful in trying for the extra point. Whitfield carried the ball for the Tigers on their own 38-yard line during the kick-off. During the first down, Donald Pummill fumbled the ball which was recovered by Marshall on the Tigers' 40-yard line.

Marshall Starts Passing
Marshall began connecting with passes, and were picking up ground, until Pummill intercepted a pass intended for a Marshall man. Dowdy calling signals handed the ball to Ruffin who carried it from Sedalia's 40-yard line to Marshall's 30. A right end play, and a center plunge advanced the ball to Marshall's 15-yard line.

From the 15-yard line, Dale Ruffin, carried the ball around right end for the second Smith-Cotton touchdown; however, the kick by Whitfield was blocked, leaving the score stand 13-6 in favor of the Tigers.

Just before the third quarter ended, Ruffin carried the ball around right end for a 20 yard run, which put the ball on Marshall's own three-yard line. The Tigers had a good chance to score, but Leo Eickhoff fumbled the ball, which was recovered by Marshall. The ball left the Smith-Cotton territory when Marshall punted.

In the final quarter, Eickhoff made up for his previous fumble by making one of the most spectacular tackling plays of the game. Sedalia kicked from the 50-yard line, and Eickhoff nearly beat the ball to the other end of the field. He planned a Marshall carrier on their own three yard line.

The pair, L. E. Salch and Robert H. Sanders, left here last night in a private plane. They are employees of the McDonnell aircraft corp.

A Decontrol Rent Meeting Hits A Snag

Loran Transue, K. C. Tells of Organization; Was The Chairman

A meeting of the Friends of the American Constitution was held in the Assembly Room of the court house, Thursday night with Loran Transue, president of the organization from Kansas City presiding. The meeting was one which ran from hot to cold.

Mr. Transue opened the meeting by introducing members of the Kansas Chapter that accompanied him to Sedalia. They were: Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Nicholson, of Grandview, and Miss Ruth Alexander, the chapter's secretary.

There were three speakers who talked chiefly on the rent decontrol act, although the Brannon farm act and several other issues were discussed. Mr. Transue, the principal speaker carried on a lengthy lecture on repealing rent control. Miss Alexander and Mrs. Nicholson followed with talks advocating the rent decontrol act and killing of the Brannon farm plan.

Tells Of World Government
During his talk, Mr. Transue told of a meeting held in Havana Cuba before World War II, at which time a charter was set up for World Government. He went on to tell of some of the provisions of the charter and what this World Government would consist of.

At the conclusion of the talk, Royal Cowger, of the Sedalia Teamsters Union asked Mr. Transue, "who were these people that held this meeting in Cuba?" and then asked "who was there from the United States?" Mr. Transue answered the questions by telling Mr. Cowger he could go to the Library and find out.

At another point of the question and answer part of the meeting, Harry Hull, president of the Central Labor Body, AFL, stood up and said, "I'm proud of this government. We elected this form of government, let's don't tear it up." While Hull was on his feet, Lloyd King stood up and said, "these fellows are just trying to break up the meeting."

The session of cuss and discussion went on and several more questions were asked and opinions voiced.

Try To Elect Officers
The meeting was attended by more than 200 persons, and when questioning and answering period began to be drawn out, several started to leave. It was announced that election of officers would follow and those who cared to remain and help organize a chapter in Sedalia could do so.

When the election began about twenty-seven persons were present. Lloyd King was nominated to become president and there being no opposition he was named. Other officers were left open when several declined to be nominated or appointed.

After the meeting Mr. King told a Capital reporter that he was interested only in the rent decontrol act and not the actual organization. He said that he would not want the office of president unless he knew more about the organization and had the support of the people of Sedalia.

Steel Strike Looms

President Hopeful Steel Negotiations Will Progress Toward Settlement

By William G. Smock

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 15—(AP)—Philip Murray today flatly told the powerful United States Steel Corporation to accept promptly the presidential board's peace pattern or take the blame for a nation-wide steel strike September 25.

But "big steel" replied to the CIO Steelworkers chief only with a confirmation of its statement that it will not accept the board's recommendations before starting new contract talks.

President Benjamin F. Fairless of the nation's largest steel producer told Murray his call for acceptance of the board's report "is nothing more than a repetition of your dictatorial message of yesterday that we must accept the recommendations of the presidential steel board before your union is willing to resume collective bargaining negotiations."

He added: "I now confirm that we declined to accept your ultimatum which is both unfair and contrary to the assurance given to us in advance by the President of the United States that the recommendations of the board would not be binding on either party."

Fairless Waiting Word
Fairless said he is still waiting word on when the union wanted to have the next meeting to study pensions and "an adequate contributory program of social insurance, toward the cost of which United States Steel will contribute up to four cents an hour as its share."

He said the responsibility of a strike "is yours, not ours," and urged the union to set a time and place for negotiations.

Officials of the Federal Conciliation and Mediation service in Washington said they had "no plans at present" for calling the two parties together.

Four hours earlier, Murray charged in a telegram to Fairless that "big steel" is deliberately trying to force a walkout on his union.

Murray said U. S. Steel's answer to his plea for plain talk was "a flat rejection" of recommendations of the presidential board for settling their labor difficulties.

Survey on Employment

Monthly One to be Given as to the Local Conditions

"The local Division of Employment Security Office, in cooperation with the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, is developing a system of making a monthly survey of local employment," V. J. Brown, manager, states.

John F. Zander, secretary of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce and Mr. Brown of the Division of Employment Security have received many requests for reports on the number of persons gainfully employed in Sedalia proper. The only information available was an estimate which was not always accurate.

Employment information will be obtained monthly from the major firms in the community whose aggregate employment represents seventy-five per cent of total employment. This information will be compiled and released during the first week of each month through the Sedalia Democrat and Capital and the Chamber of Commerce weekly publication.

It is believed authentic monthly reports on employment, unemployment and new hires in Sedalia will be of great value to the business life of the community. The relationship of employment to total working force reflects the economic conditions of the community, thus, such information could be used as a basis for planning or the development of business plans, determining the available labor supply and the need for new industries or industrial expansion.

Keep Up Purchasing Power

More than two-thirds of consumer purchasing power comes from gainfully employed people. Therefore, emphasis should be placed on keeping employment at the highest possible level. Mr. Brown stated his office, in cooperation with the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, is setting up a system for channeling workers laid off into employment. This program is designed to minimize the time lost through lay-offs while workers are seeking new employment.

During the fall and winter months, hundreds of workers are laid off. These workers come from such industries as construction, seasonal manufacturing, food processing plants and agriculture. Many workers laid off can be employed in other industries which normally increase their working force during the fall and winter months. Employers cooperation is necessary in carrying out this program. They will be requested to advise the local employment office of the number of workers they anticipate laying off and their classifications, if possible. Employers who anticipate hiring new workers will be requested to advise the local employment office of their need for workers. This will enable the local employment office to place these workers as rapidly as possible, thus, minimizing lost time and wages resulting from lay-offs.

Schools are Crowded as Never Before

Teacher Shortage Is Critical as Terms Begin

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—American schools, jammed as never before, are up against their "most critical year." U. S. education commissioner Earl James McGrath said today.

And Federal Security Administrator Oscar R. Ewing declared it is a situation calling for aid of congress as well as state and local action.

"Teacher and school housing shortages cannot be overcome by states and communities with their limited finances," Ewing said in a statement. The office of education is a part of his department.

"War-born children, attending school in large numbers for the first time this year," said Ewing, "will swell elementary school enrollments more than half a million."

"High schools will enroll a quarter million more than they did last year."

About Evenly Divided Universities and colleges will have about the same number, he added.

McGrath said that overcrowding and half sessions will "short change" many boys and girls. Elementary school enrollments will be rising a million a year for several years, he said.

McGrath has predicted a record enrollment of 32,671,500 in elementary and secondary schools and colleges this fall. The 1948-49 total was 31,880,000.

"The teacher shortage is still critical," Ewing said.

"The high wartime birth rates will bring 7,000,000 children into the nation's elementary schools by 1956 over and above the number now enrolled.

"Nearly a quarter million teachers will be needed during this period for the extra enrollment alone."

"Nearly half a million additional classrooms and related facilities will be required to house the war baby pupils and to replace classrooms which became obsolete or ineffective during the war and post-war years."

"This is one-half the total of classrooms now in use in the United States."

The statement estimated that a capital outlay of $10,000,000,000 will be needed from 1950 to 1960 to enlarge and improve the public elementary and secondary schools.

Pro-Amateur Golf Tourney Here Sept. 19

Gibson Will Conduct Golf Clinic Also At Country Club

Sedalia's first annual Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament will be held Monday, September 19, at the Sedalia Country Club. Tom H. Yount, general chairman of the event sponsored by the Sedalia Athletic Association has announced that several of the leading pros from the Kansas City and Central Missouri area have either returned completed entry blanks or verbally expressed their intention to come to Sedalia for the event.

It will be an 18-hole medal play tourney. Five hundred dollars in prize money will be awarded the low scoring amateurs. Several dozen entries have been received from some of the leading amateurs from the Central Missouri area.

A Golf Clinic

At six o'clock on the day of the tourney a golf clinic and trick shot demonstration will be conducted by Leland Gibson, pro at the Blue Hills Country Club of Kansas City. He will be assisted in the clinic by several pros who will demonstrate the shot at which they are particularly adept. Fundamentals of the golf swing, including grip and stance will be discussed as well as the finer points of the swing. This form of clinic has been used successfully at most of the major tournaments throughout the country, since it provides entertainment as well as enlightenment to both golfer and non-player spectators.

The proceeds from the gate receipts will be used by the Sedalia Athletic Association to further sports activities in Sedalia. The committee is looking forward to a large turnout of spectators for the event. It is the first time such a golfing demonstration has been brought to Sedalia and everyone who comes out will not only enjoy a fine afternoon of entertainment but also a healthful walk in our Missouri Autumn sunshine, as well as the beauty of the rolling fairways and fine textured putting greens at the Sedalia Country Club.

One Killed In B-36 Crash

The World's Largest Bomber Plunged Off Runway Into A Lake

FORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 15.—(AP)—A giant B-36—the world's largest bomber—plunged off a runway into Lake Worth tonight, killing at least one airman.

Eight men of the 13-man crew were rescued, injured; three were unaccounted for.

It was the first serious crash involving a B-36 since the huge plane began flying more than a year and a half ago.

The bomber crashed on a take-off with flames shooting from one engine.

The plane failed to leave the runway and shot into the lake.

Major Toy B. Husband, the pilot, was among those rescued. He was under treatment for shock and undetermined injuries at the base hospital.

The plane landed about 200 yards off shore and was carrying a light load of gasoline. This allowed the plane to float, giving crewmen a chance to escape.

The big ship was partially submerged an hour and a half after the crash.

The 162-foot, 47-foot high B-36 has a wing span of 230 feet and a maximum speed of over 300 miles per hour. It has six pusher-type engines.

The wing tanks hold 21,116 gallons of gasoline and 1,200 gallons of oil—more than the average motorist uses in 20 years. This gas load equals the amount which is transported by two railroad tank cars.

The four-section bomb bay is 85 feet long and has a space equal to that of four railroad freight cars.

Col. Cecil H. Scott, Jr., public information officer, said the dead man was Technical Sgt. William G. Seymour of Fort Worth. The injured were taken to the base hospital.

Spares Life of Husband Killer

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The man had killed her husband. So the judge left it up to her. Did she want the slayer to die for his crime?

She said to let him live.

Thus did Mrs. Anna Falletta, 35, the widowed mother of four children, save 35-year-old Carmine (Charlie) Petillo Wednesday from the electric chair.

Petillo, on trial for first degree murder in the May 4 shooting of Mrs. Falletta's husband, Frank, 35, offered to plead guilty to second degree murder, which does not carry a death penalty.

Kings County Judge Samuel Leibowitz told Mrs. Falletta the decision was in her hands as to whether he accepted Petillo's plea to the lesser charge.

"I feel two wrongs can't make a right," she said, her voice quivering. "Frank is gone. Sending Charlie to the electric chair won't bring Frank back."

"I feel sorry for his (Petillo's) poor mother. I know what it is to lose someone. He'll have to answer to God for what he has done."

Leibowitz called the prisoner before him, and said:

"You ought to get on your knees and kiss the hem of the skirt worn by this good woman. Every morning and every night in your cell in Sing Sing you ought to thank God you met such a kindly person."

"Remember, Petillo, she saved you from the electric chair."

Petillo, who shot Falletta in an argument about a $20 debt, was ordered held for sentencing of not less than 30 years in prison.

Closing of Rent Control Office

Rent control activities in Sedalia will be handled after September 15 by the Kansas City Area Rent Office, Area Rent Director, James M. Robertson, announced in Kansas City Wednesday.

The local office in the Katy building is being closed because of the reduced office of housing expediter budget, but landlords and tenants can continue to bring their rent problems to a weekly clinic to be held in the city hall every Thursday and Friday, according to Mr. Robertson.

He emphasized that the change will not affect the agency policy of maintaining effective rent control in all areas under control. "At the same time, we intend to give every possible assistance in obtaining their rights under the law to landlords and tenants in the Sedalia area, which consists of Pettis and Johnson counties," Mr. Robertson stated.

Elmer Sterling, director of the Sedalia office, is being transferred to the Kansas City office as field representative, and will be in the city hall in Sedalia Thursday and Friday of each week to offer assistance in rent problems of landlords and tenants.

Persons who are unable to see the rent representative while he is in the city may transact their business by writing the Kansas City office, using this address: Railway Exchange Building, 7th & Walnut streets. The telephone number in Kansas City is, Harrison 6464.

Suit to Break Up Food Chain

Is Filed on A&P By Attorney General McGrath

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Attorney-general J. Howard McGrath today filed suit to break up the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company's nationwide food chain.

The civil action was brought in federal district court at New York City this morning.

It is a follow-up to a criminal conviction of the A. and P. company under the anti-trust statutes at Danville, Ill., three years ago.

The conviction was affirmed in the U. S. court of appeals at Chicago early this year and the company paid fines totaling $175,000.

The action in New York requests a court order requiring A. and P. to separate its manufacturing and processing business and to separate its present seven retail store divisions into seven independently owned retail food chains.

The justice department proposes to dissolve the Atlantic commission company, A. and P.'s wholesale purchasing and sales agent in the produce markets.

Limit to One Division

Under the proposed break-up of the present national chain into seven independent companies, A. and P. itself would not be permitted to own more than one such division, probably covering about 800 stores, in contrast to the 6,000 retail outlets it now operates.

The department pointed out, however, that the final form of the proposed dissolution would be a matter for the court to determine.

McGrath described the A. and P. system as "the largest enterprise in the food industry in the United States," with annual retail sales amounting to about $1,900,000,000 or about 6.4 percent of the national total of retail store sales.

"The suit," McGrath said in a statement, "is designed to eliminate the abuse by A. and P. of its mass buying and mass selling power."

The complaint alleges that the big chain has used its power and position to "impose unreasonable restraints of trade upon competitors at all levels of the food industry from farm to table."

It asserts this was done by obtaining discriminatory price preferences over retail competitors "by exercising a dual threat permanently to withhold its patronage (from suppliers) or to manufacture for itself."

In New York, an A. and P. official branded the suit as "a threat to the welfare and living standards of every American citizen."

Entering a general denial of the government charges, a spokesman for the big food chain said "the whole basis of this attack is the fact that we sold good food too cheap."

"This is not just an effort to destroy A. and P., but an attack on the entire system of efficient low-cost, low-profit, mass distribution which this company pioneered," he said.

Fast Action Saves Service Station

PRINCETON, Mo., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Fast action by a gasoline station attendant here yesterday saved the Carlisle Motor Company station and a produce truck from being damaged by a gasoline fire.

Walter Woodward, 48, the attendant, smothered a fire in the gasoline tank of the truck he was servicing with his hands when it was ignited by a flash of fire which ran up the hose. He then extinguished flames on the hose and pump with a fire extinguisher.

It was believed the fire started from a match or cigarette dropped by a passerby.

Six years ago Woodward saw the station and a large truck destroyed by fire when the truck's tank exploded in a similar accident.

To Fight For 'Gas' Tax Hike

Gov. Smith to Make War on Its Opponents

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Gov. Forrest Smith today told opponents of Missouri's new gasoline tax increase that he will call the legislature back to work "time and time again" to get a road program into operation.

The governor declared war on opponents of his road program in a "no quarter" speech before the county judges' annual convention here today.

He said the oil companies, the Missouri Bus and Truck association and the Automobile Club of Missouri were misrepresenting facts in their fight to kill the new law doubling Missouri's two cent a gallon gas tax. These organizations have started a petition campaign to put the issue on the 1950 general election ballot.

Recently, the governor told the county judges, he stopped at a filling station on U. S. Highway 54. Two dirt roads joined the highway nearby.

Threat On Contract

The operator, not recognizing the governor, asked him to sign a petition for a referendum.

The filling station man said the company whose gasoline he sold threatened to take away his contract if he did not get enough names on the petition. The goal is 55,000 names from two-thirds of the state's congressional districts.

He added that he understood the governor was trying to "put the state highway commission in politics."

Smith said if the bill becomes law every farmer in Missouri will be within two miles of a hard surfaced road. He said he told the filling station operator the two nearby country roads would be surfaced too.

If the referendum passes, the governor told the county judges, and the new law is turned down by the people, he will call the legislature back until a law acceptable to a majority of the people is passed.

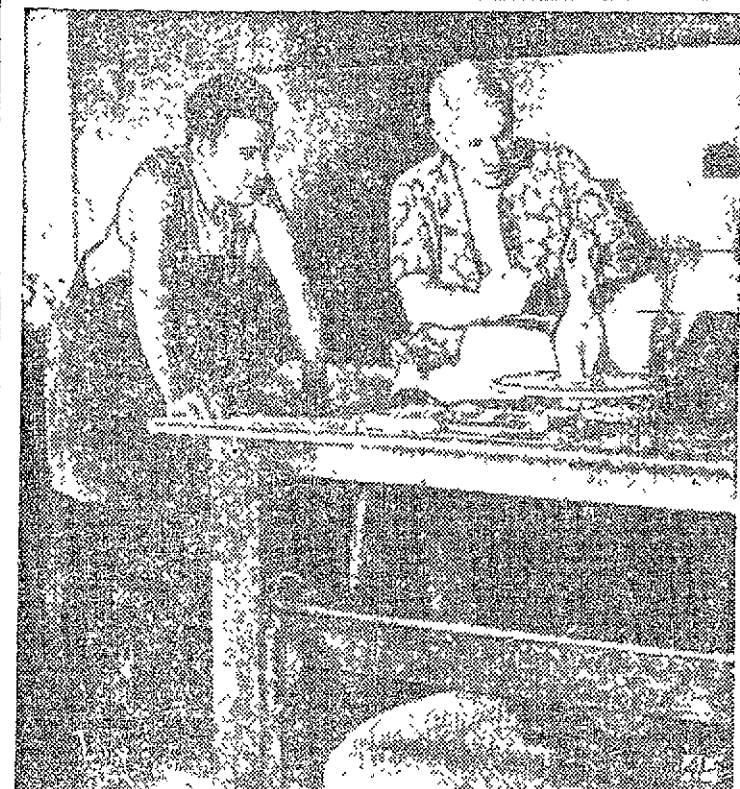

He accused the four opposing organizations of misrepresenting the issues merely to defeat any increase in gasoline taxes.

Missouri now has the lowest gasoline tax in the nation.

The law as passed by the legislature and signed by the governor who recommended it, would make the tax four cents a gallon.

It includes a promise of the state highway commission to spend one cent of the increase to put an all-weather surface—"low type rural roads"—on country routes.

Approve Plan To Buy Wheat

ECA Would Ease Restrictions For Great Britain

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The Economic Cooperative Administration Thursday approved the use by Great Britain of $175,000,000 in Marshall plan funds to buy Canadian wheat.

The recovery agency said the action is "an effort to alleviate the critical drain on British gold and dollar holdings."

Easing of restrictions on Britain's use of Marshall plan money was one of the things agreed to at the United States-British-Canadian talks on Britain's dollar crisis.

The wheat purchase is the first approved by ECA from any source other than the United States since last March.

Wheat purchases from other countries with Marshall plan money were suspended at that time because grain was in free supply in the U. S.

Judge Minton Is Named to High Court

Truman Choice As Successor to Justice Rutledge

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Sherman Minton of Indiana, who battled in vain for the 1937 Roosevelt plan to put younger blood on the Supreme Court, today was chosen by President Truman to serve on that bench.

Minton, in 1937 a Democratic, pro-New Deal senator, now is a judge of the seventh U. S. circuit court of appeals. That court has headquarters at Chicago and embraces the states of Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin.

President Truman opened a news conference by announcing his choice of Minton to succeed the late Justice Wiley B. Rutledge on the nation's highest court.

He also announced that Judge Walter C. Lindley of the U. S. court for the eastern district of Illinois will succeed Minton on the appellate court.

Casper Platie, now a circuit judge of Illinois, will succeed Lindley.

Now 58, Minton is a Democrat and a Protestant, but his wife is a Catholic.

There had been speculation before the appointment that Mr. Truman might choose a Catholic for the high court. The death of Justice Frank Murphy in July removed the only member of that faith from the court. Mr. Truman appointed attorney general Tom Clark, a Protestant, to succeed Murphy.

Elected Senator in 1934

Minton, a lawyer of New Albany, Ind., was elected to the Senate in 1934. His Senate desk was next to that of then Senator Harry Truman of Missouri and the two became close friends.

As a Senator, Minton was an embattled "New Dealer" and a vigorous fighter for the Roosevelt administration's measures. He fought hard for President Roosevelt's plan to add new justices to the Supreme Court to the number of those over age 70 who did not retire.

As the age of the justices then stood, the plan would have enlarged the court from nine to 15 members.

The court of that time had declared unconstitutional major legislation which the president backed as essential to the country.

With the shifting of political tides, Minton was defeated for re-election in the Senate in 1940 by Raymond E. Willis, Republican.

Minton went back to Indiana, but President Roosevelt quickly called him back to Washington and named him as one of his administrative assistants. On May 7, 1941, President Roosevelt appointed him to the circuit court of appeals.

Minton was born in Georgetown, Ind., but his family moved to New Albany when he was a small boy.

Was Football Player

He was educated at Indiana university where he was a football and baseball player. He received his law degree from Indiana in 1915 and followed it with a year of graduate work in law at Yale.

Minton had hardly settled into law practice in New Albany when the first world war began. He went into the army and served as an infantry captain. He was a staff officer under General Pershing.

His rise in Indiana politics coincided with the governorship of Paul V. McNutt, who later became federal security commissioner, war manpower commissioner, high commissioner and then ambassador to the Philippines.

Minton was public counselor of the Indiana public service commission when he was elected to the Senate.

His strong "New Dealer" views as a Senator surprised some of his Indiana friends, particularly since as a lawyer he had had many large corporation accounts.

Sent Celery Back

Minton was active on the Senate's lobby investigating committee. Once a crate of celery was sent from Florida to each Senator who voted against a proposal to construct a canal across the state. Minton got one. He sent it back.

RELIGIOUS REMARKABLES - - - By Scheel

Modesty In Dress

Everybody loves a parade. There is irresistible attraction in the sight of marchers swinging along to the tempo of a rousing band. However, one frequent feature of these demonstrations constitutes a cause for concern—the use of scantily-clad drum majorettes.

A newspaper columnist who witnessed a recent high school football game in West Virginia took sharp exception to the practice of using teenage girls as drum majorettes to ballyhoo such events.

She reported that "the sight of 75 drum majorettes... all in a minimum of clothing, 'all swinging batons and wagging in time to a band, had chilled me more than any sight I have seen in years."

"Let's have the decency and the good taste," she wrote, "not to recruit innocent little girls from ten to seventeen, dress 'em up in tight bodices with three inches of skirt, and encourage them to make an exhibition of themselves doing a 1949 version of the shimmy."

Conscientious parents, especially, will endorse the newspaper woman's protest. No parent or daughter should be blind to truth that immodesty in dress or conduct is a violation of Christian precepts.

Not only parades exploiting under-dressed majorettes, but bathing beauty contests and similar exhibitions should cause concern. There are certain types of theatres which pander to the lower instincts. That is bad enough. But when young girls are found making immoral displays of themselves in public—whether innocently or not—it is time for those involved to search their consciences.

Purity may seem an old-fashioned virtue in these fast-moving times. But, as one writer has said, purity in person and morals is true godliness. One of the most tragic signs in America is the gradual lowering of standards of decency and self-respect which were the pride of those pioneer generations who built this nation on foundations of high Christian morality.

Sunday School Lesson

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Dangers constantly beset the people of Israel, at times surrounded by hostile tribes, and later imperilled as their little land lay between the great empires of the ancient world, striving for conquest and mastery—Egypt on the south, and always some great power on the north, east, and west, Assyria, Babylon, Syria, Persia, Greece, or Rome, whichever it might be.

That the dangers of this situation were real was evidenced in the successive and terrible tragedies that befell the people. Not only did they suffer invasion, destruction, and exile, but other sufferings and persecutions were incredible. When Grecian conquerors sought to Hellenize and corrupt the worship of the Temple, 800 protesting Pharisees, then the party defending the purity of religion, were crucified in one day, and on another occasion 6,000 worshippers were put to the sword in the very precincts of the Temple.

That, in spite of all the tragedies of the ages in that little land, there should have been survival, until now, in the 20th century, the Jews are again seeking restoration in their homeland, is the miracle of the ages.

But even greater is the miracle that out of that little land of sorrow and tragedy should have come the richness and sweetness of a religion, with its uppermost note of triumph and joy.

The late Dr. George A. Gordon, famous minister of the Old South church, in Boston, once remarked that it was the quality of all true and great prophecy that it bursts into song. There are passages in the great prophecies, such as that of Isaiah, that fairly sing in their praises of righteousness and peace, but the Psalms were the great outpouring of prophecy in song.

Here in the Psalms is the personal joy in religion, the joy manifest in the Christians of Jewish heritage, Paul and Silas, singing in the darkness of an inner prison, with their feet fast in the stocks (Acts 16).

What was the source and nature of this joy in religion? It was, first of all, a profound confidence in God. A modern poet has said, "It fortifies my soul to know, that though I perish, truth is so." This is a modern version of that unshaken faith in God that sustained Helel, 800 protesting Pharisees, then the party defending the purity of religion, were crucified in one day, and on another occasion 6,000 worshippers were put to the sword in the very precincts of the Temple.

Along with this was the sense of community. It found its strength in the sense of God's choice and call, and one's part in that chosen community. Its highest expression is in the passionate declaration of that patriotic citizen of Zion, in Isaiah 62: "For Zion's sake will I not hold my peace, and for Jerusalem's sake will I not rest, until the righteousness thereof go forth as brightness, and the salvation thereof as a lamp that burneth."

Who could measure the joy and strength of a modern democracy, if its every citizen had a similar passion for the commonweal, and for all the high idealism that democracy professes?

"MATTER" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 18, 1949.
Golden Text: Ps. 114:7.

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And unto man he said, Behold, the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom; and to depart from evil is understanding." (Job 28:28) The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The exterminator of error is the great truth that God, good, is the only Mind and that the superstitious opposite of infinite Mind—called devil or evil—is not Mind, is not Truth, but error, without intelligence or reality." (p. 469)

Machine With Electric Brain For Type-Setting

By Alton L. Blakeslee
AP Science Reporter

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—(P)—A new machine with an electric brain and a flashing photo heart promises to chop down the costs of printing the newspapers, books and magazines you read.

It sets type clearly, accurately and quickly on film, without using any metal. Anyone who can type can run it, for it has a standard typewriter keyboard. Whatever you type comes out with perfectly-spaced margins, arranged by the electric brain or memory.

Each letter is projected onto film through a photo-electric gun, pulsing like a heart to record just what you've written. You push buttons to get whatever style of type you want, or whatever size from headline to small print at any moment. You can see your whole line of words and correct any errors before you push the button to photograph it.

Leading publishers and scientists unveiled the new machine yesterday and called it the most significant advance in the art of printing in 75 years.

It promises to bring huge savings in the cost of printing, and make possible printing of more newspapers, books, magazines, and scientific journals, they said.

Present Linotype machines set type from molten metal, and have a top speed of about seven or eight newspaper column lines a minute.

This machine sets 12 lines a

Dr. Vannevar Bush

Discusses new radical type-setting processes in scientific development.

minute, by photographing six letters a second. It could set 20 a minute, if anyone could type that fast. It saves through faster production, and can bring other savings by avoiding some stages of printing with metal type.

Films On Rolls

The strips or rolls of films that come from the machine have to be reproduced on metal. This can be done by making offset plates, or photo-engravings for regular printing methods. And scientists predicted ways will be found to make up new kinds of photo-engravings cheaply and in perhaps a few minutes time.

The machine is the result of cooperative work of two French inventors, Rene A. Higonnet and Louis Moyroud, the Lithomat corporation of Cambridge, and Dr. Vannevar Bush, president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, and his associates.

As yet the photo-composing machine has no official name. One working model has been made. The finished machines will look like a big stenographer desk. They may be ready in 18 months. Costs are not yet known.

Dr. Bush declared many present methods of printing are obsolete, and that changes will come fast in this field. Movable type may be on the way out, he said, and "someday we may do printing without any metal at all."

It's even possible, Dr. Bush said, that someday news stories may be sent out over wires to newspapers and be received in type in their offices in the style and size of type that each individual one wants.

The county campaign to raise funds for the re-activated USO will get under way this fall.

The nation's responsibility to the youth in America's peace-time forces was stressed when President Harry S. Truman recently called for re-activation of the USO. ## New York Citizens Can't Lose In Lehman-Dulles Senate Race

By Bruce Biossai

The whole nation can share with New York state its satisfaction at the caliber of the two men certain to be the major party nominee this fall for the Senate seat once held by Robert F. Wagner.

Not often does any state have a chance to choose between two such distinguished prospects as Herbert H. Lehman, the likely Democratic choice and John Foster Dulles, the probable Republican selection. Dulles, of course, is now serving in the Senate, having been appointed to the Wagner vacancy until an election could be held.

Lehman has a long career of fine public service as governor of New York and international relief administrator. He is acknowledged as one of the most high-minded standard bearers of the Democratic party has had in several decades.

Senator Dulles is generally recognized as one of the two or three principal spokesmen for the Republicans in foreign affairs. Only Senator Vandenberg of Michigan has greater prestige. Dulles has participated in several important international conferences and is a valued adviser on the vital issues of peace.

In terms of character and ability, the citizens of New York and the country too—will not lose no matter which man is elected for the unexpired two years of Wagner's term.

Because the general outlook of the two candidates on foreign affairs is similar, New York voters may make their selection on the basis of their domestic views. Here Dulles is the more conservative.

But of greater interest than who wins in November is the fact that Lehman and Dulles could be persuaded to make the race.

Lehman is 71 years old and has a perfect right to tell his supporters that he has earned a rest. After long consideration, he consented to run because of appeals that his party needed a man of his stature. The decision unquestionably represents a sacrifice on Lehman's part, even though he is probably human enough to want the honor of being a senator.

As for Dulles, he accepted temporary appointment from Gov. Thomas E. Dewey on the understanding that he would not be a candidate in the fall election. Since going to Washington, however, he has been subjected to heavy pressure to make the race. No little amount has come from Vandenberg himself, who plans to retire and would like to see Dulles assume foreign affairs leadership for the GOP Senate forces.

In deciding to run, Dulles said something that should be read carefully by the many men of high ability who disdain to enter the political arena for fear of compromising their principles or soiling their spotless reputations.

"I would greatly prefer that another carry the responsibility (of becoming a candidate). However, I do not see how our free society can survive if those who have deep convictions reject the opportunity to carry those convictions into public life. Therefore . . . I would gladly accept and respond to the best of my ability."

If some of our abler citizens would take those words to heart, there might be more Senate races in many more states like that coming up between Lehman and Dulles.

Cleaning up the Agenda

German newspapers have carried unconfirmed reports that Russia has offered the Western Powers a new six-point plan for ending East-West differences in Berlin and the rest of Germany.

If these reports turn out to be accurate, we suggest that the West respond by asking Russia to clean up the unfinished business left over from the last international conference before cluttering up the atmosphere with new proposals.

Highest on the agenda of things the Soviet Union promised would be done is the final drafting of a treaty for Austria. When that treaty is signed and sealed, it will be time enough to give credence to further fancies emanating from Moscow.

Senator Thomas of Okla. Speculates Again

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—Something is rotten in the egg market. And Elmer Thomas, the speculating senator from Oklahoma, could tell a lot about it if he wished, though he probably won't.

Elmer Thomas (not to be confused with Senator Elbert Thomas of Utah, a pious Mormon ex-missionary) is the man who was exposed in this column three years ago for simultaneously speculating in cotton and using his influence in the Senate to affect the price of cotton.

At that time Thomas vigorously denied he was speculating, called this columnist a liar, said all the cotton he owned was on his back. But two years later when a Republican Congress required the secretary of agriculture to make public the names of those speculating in cotton, Senator Thomas' name was on the list. So also was the name of his wife, his secretary, Miss Beth Gage, and his bosom friend, Dyke Cullum. Furthermore, Thomas admitted in a public statement that Cullum had handled his commodity trading for him.

In addition, another of Senator Thomas' speculator friends, Ralph Moore, was indicted under the lobbying act for trying to influence the fats and oils market by issuing fake government reports.

There is nothing illegal about a senator speculating on the commodity market — though his ethics are something else again. However, it is almost unbelievable that a senator — especially the chairman of the Senate agriculture committee — should use his prestige and high office to influence prices on the commodity market at the same time he is speculating.

Ferguson is Outbluffed

Therefore, Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan, then chairman of a Senate investigating subcommittee, was authorized to probe the operations of his colleague from Oklahoma. But Senator Thomas did some quick investigating of his own — of Senator Ferguson. Following which he wrote Ferguson a letter in longhand, later published in this column, threatening to expose certain connections between the Ferguson family and the Chrysler Motor company.

Confronted with this letter, the senator from Michigan promptly dropped his investigation of the senator from Oklahoma.

Eighteen months have passed, and Senator Thomas is now up to his old tricks. Since the Democratic victory last November, he has been restored as chairman of the powerful agriculture committee. But not even waiting for the election, the senator got back into the cotton market last September.

Then, about two weeks ago, Senator Thomas let loose a significant public statement. He took a sudden, surprising interest in eggs, publicly complained about the price of eggs and blasted the agriculture department's egg-price-support program every time the Senate agriculture committee met.

Ten Carloads of Eggs

Now every housewife would like to see the price of eggs come down. But what every housewife does not have is ten railroad carloads of eggs. And what very few people in the United States know was that Thomas' intimate friend, Dyke Cullum, had just purchased ten freight carloads of egg futures. Therefore, he was vitally interested in the future price of eggs.

And Dyke Cullum is the man who, Thomas admits, has handled a trading account for him. Thomas Swings Weight

The senator from Oklahoma has been quite brazen in lending his name to Cullum's attempt to influence the egg market. Not only was one letter written to the agriculture department with Thomas' name signed to it regarding the department's egg-price-support program, but Thomas started an official Senate investigation of eggs.

In doing so, Thomas wrote a letter to Senator Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, whom he placed in charge of the investigation, asking that he call certain people as witnesses. And in listing them he scrupulously avoided the name of W. D. Termohlen, agriculture department poultry chief, because Dyke Cullum had told him that Termohlen was not cooperative.

Cullum had so heckled the poultry division with letters, phone calls and personal visits in which he claimed to represent the Senate Agriculture committee that Termohlen finally challenged him — bluntly asked whether he was paid by the Senate committee.

"I'm one of those who don't get paid," Cullum retorted.

"Do you work for the agriculture committee?"

"I represent Senator Thomas personally," Cullum declared.

Cullum also wrote, both under his own name and that of Senator Thomas, asking about and criticizing the egg program. He did not at any time reveal, of course, that he had purchased ten carloads of egg future.

Threatens Job

Finally Ralph Trigg, agriculture production and marketing chief, wrote back opposing Cullum's ideas. He then received an insulting letter suggesting that Trigg didn't understand eggs, and that perhaps a special assistant secretary should be appointed to relieve Trigg of his responsibilities.

Again Cullum did not reveal that having purchased ten carloads of eggs, he was a highly interested party.

The ten carloads of eggs were purchased in Chicago under the name of the National Commodity Corporation. Cullum and his broker, Ralph Root, appeared on the floor of the exchange and made the purchase personally. Chicago brokers, when interviewed by this column, stated that Cullum was quite free in using Senator Thomas' name in connection with the deal.

The National Commodity Corporation is the name used by Cullum in the past to handle various speculations. Its other officers are his son, Dyke Cullum, Jr., secretary and his daughter, Kiki Cullum, treasurer.

much right to a career as a single woman, I don't think they neglect their homes, because with so many mechanical devices on the market they can do both.—Olive H. Huston, executive director of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Wife Has to be Contented if Marriage is Going to Work

Do all marriages go through periods of depression? The wife whose letter brings up that question writes me that she and her husband just aren't very happy any more. She has the feeling they are growing apart. Their marriage doesn't seem to offer either one of them very much but work and worry.

"It wasn't always this way," she adds.

And if she is a wise wife, it won't always be that way, either. All marriages may not have their low periods—but probably most of them do.

It is too much to expect a marriage to stay the same, year in and year out.

The wise wife isn't dismayed when her marriage seems to be less happy and rewarding than it once was, or when she realizes that work and worry and the demands of living seem to be pushing husband and wife a little apart.

When those times come in a marriage the wise wife doesn't dramatize her unhappiness or accuse her husband of having changed in his feelings toward her. She goes right on about her job as homemaker, wife and mother, trying to create as much happiness and gaiety for the whole family as she can.

Musn't Overdo It

She doesn't wear a long face, or indulge in self-pity or drive her husband even further away by becoming critical of him or of his behavior.

She makes herself stay cheerful and to the best of her ability makes home as pleasant for him as possible.

For she knows that if she doesn't do anything to make matters worse but calmly goes about living her life as happily as she can, the period of depression will pass.

She tries to make herself as happy as possible by doing things that are interesting and stimulating to her, so that she will avoid getting to feel like a martyr to an unsatisfactory marriage.

For it is an odd fact that in order to have a happy marriage it is far more important for the wife to make herself happy than to strive to make her husband happy. If she is happy—or at least content—her happiness will be catching. But no matter how hard a woman tries, she can't make a man happy just by striving to please him.

The Doctor Says Periodic Physical Exam Needed To Stop Disease at the Start

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

A routine physical examination cannot guarantee absolute health nor even that some obscure disorder is not present. Also some things come on so suddenly that they may not even be present in the doctor's office and yet develop in a few hours.

A person who visits the doctor regularly should report any symptoms or suspicious signs which may have developed since the last visit. The doctor is likely to ask a few questions, such as whether there has been any gain or loss in weight. His examination often reveals such things as a chronic infection of the nose, bronchitis, the presence of hemorrhoids, a lump in the breast, swelling of the ankles and similar easily observed changes which ought not be present.

Examination of the blood pressure should be included in every routine examination of grownups. A few simple laboratory tests on the blood and urine are generally made.

Can't Use All Tests

So far the routine physical examination is fairly simple. However, there are so many special tests possible that it would not be practical to apply them to every person once or twice a year. How often, for example, should it be necessary to take a basal metabolic test, an X-ray of the stomach, an electro-cardiogram, or examination of the chemistry of the blood? Such tests as these cannot be included in routine examinations unless there is some particular reason to do so. They would cost too much and take too much time to repeat them.

The use of reasonable methods of physical examination and such tests as seem to be indicated reveals many disease conditions in their early stages. This, of course, is of enormous help in treatment, as almost anything is easier to cure at the beginning than it is when far advanced.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS
BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
QUESTION: What is "dropped stomach," and what can be done for it?

ANSWER: There are probably several conditions which go under this name. Strictly speaking, it would consist of the stomach lying low in the abdomen instead of high up. It could perhaps be helped by wearing an abdominal support. Sometimes a hernia or rupture of the abdominal contents is wrongly called a dropped stomach.

SO Gaynel's little sister had decided to get a job. Had Fritz planted this seed, too?

"Dear me," Emily said, but she wore her sweetest smile again. "A model does sound rather startling. If you know what I mean. I suppose a photographic one should be different. An office, instead of a studio. The things one hears about artists! Though I've known some very nice ones. I do see how my interests must coincide with yours. I meant that they should, from now on. My family must come first. And you know, darling, The Simple Life is really quite the thing. People are all going back to the farms."

"I can't imagine you going back that far, Mother," Gaynel said. She, too, pushed back her chair. She would have to get going. "I am sure, however, that you still can lead your Simple Life, to some degree. Even though I am going to marry Barry."

Emily fluttered after her into the hall, the ruffles on her lacy negligee fluttering, too; her pretty hands gesticulating; murmuring protestations still. Something about, "But, darling, there won't be any point to it, if you marry Barry . . . with all that money. . . I do think you shouldn't be in such a hurry, darling. . . Such a different life, so interesting for me" . . . and even something more about having intended talking with a real estate man about the big house today.

But Gaynel did not answer, except to bestow a dutiful daughterly kiss on her mother's cheek after she got into the leopard coat, adjusted the small green beret, and started out for her day.

THE situation was too ironic to appeal to her sense of humor, for once lacking. Now that she was not going to marry Fritz everything had adjusted itself beautifully so that she could have. Denny was contributing his share and accepting his part of the responsibility. Emily desired to lead what she was pleased to call The Simple Life, as a new experiment and fancy; even Pat had asserted her independence and gave promise of the intention to take care of herself and lead a life of her own before many years.

But it was Barry, whom Gaynel was going to marry now. She had given him her promise. She meant to live up to it. She told herself it was he she wanted, the security and protection he could give her. He would spoil her dreadfully, be terribly good to her. Oh, she would try, very, very hard, to do as much—in her way—for him.

Bessie Carter was the first to call to wish Gaynel happiness, after the announcement of her engagement appeared in the papers. "I think it's grand!" Bessie declared over the wire. There was no doubt as to her enthusiasm. "I always knew you two would fix it up, eventually. And it looks, darling, as though your gal friend might decide to do the same thing, most any old day."

"Good for you," Gaynel said, with as much enthusiasm as she could muster. For of course Bessie meant that she had decided to marry Fritz. And if Bessie had decided that, it was as good as done. Well, why shouldn't Bessie go after Fritz, now that Gaynel was marrying Barry? And why, in heaven's name, should Gaynel give a darn, one way or another?

"Fritz is away again," Bessie said. "Down South; he surely gets around. But I tell him it's too silly, when we could have so much fun—though, of course, I hear from him, wires and long distance—Fritz claims he's the world's worst correspondent."

Yes, Fritz had said that to Gay-nel, too. But he had written her, when in Chicago. No doubt he was saying all the things now to Bessie, that once he had said to her.

"I even got Father to make a place for him here," Bessie was saying. "At a much fatter salary. But, can you tie this, he wouldn't take it?"

GAYNEL couldn't tie it, but her heart, that had sunk so low, gave a lift. Then sank again at Bessie's next declaration.

"I told him he'd have to—after we are married. I don't intend to have a traveling man for my husband!"

It would be interesting to see who won out—Bessie or Fritz. Each was as stubborn as the other. Gaynel hoped they'd lead a cat-and-dog life together. And then to make up for such an unkind thought, she said, "I want you to be one of my bridesmaids, Bessie," she said sweetly.

Bessie said, enthusiastically again, that that would be simply grand. Maybe Barry would ask Fritz for one of the ushers.

Gaynel replied that that would be up to Barry. But she scarcely thought it likely, or that Fritz would accept, were Barry to ask him. These last opinions she kept to herself, naturally.

At least Fritz was not marrying Bessie for her father's money, or what he could do for him. As he would think she was, when she married Barry. But she wasn't; she wasn't! Let Fritz think what he pleased. The money would be nice; it would be ridiculous, untruthful, to say it wouldn't. But she—and Barry—knew there was much more than that.

She was terribly fond of Barry. And she despised Frederick Fitzroy Freyman.

WHY THE MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILROAD STRIKE?
Over twenty years ago, the Congress of the United States passed the Railway Labor Act. It was hailed by union leaders as a model for the settlement of labor disputes.

THE LEADERS of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, Order of Railway Conductors, and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen on the Missouri Pacific Railroad have refused to avail themselves of the peaceful means provided by this Act for settling their disputes. They insist that they be the sole umpire of their own disputes over the meaning of contracts.

There is No Need for Strikes
With all of the available methods for the interpretation of contracts, there is no need for a strike or even a threat of a strike, but the leaders of these railroad unions have ignored the ordinary procedures established by law and insist upon imposing their own interpretations of their contracts by means of a strike.

The wheels have stopped rolling on the Missouri Pacific. They may stop rolling on other railroads at any time. Recently the Wabash Railroad was forced to discontinue operation for several days under similar circumstances.

What Are These Strikes About?
These strikes and strike threats are not about wage rates or hours. They result from disputes over the meaning of existing contracts. They cover claims for a full day's pay for less than a day's work, or for payments for services performed by others who were fully paid for the work done.

President Truman's Board Condemns Strike
There is an established legal method for handling disputes involving existing written contracts—just as there is such a method of settling any contract dispute which you may have in your daily life. The President of the United States appointed a Fact Finding Board to investigate and adjust the Missouri Pacific dispute. This Board reported, in part, as follows:
"... It is with a deep sense of regret that we are obliged to report the failure of our mission. It seems inconceivable to us that a coercive strike should occur on one of the nation's major transportation systems, with all of the losses and hardships that would follow. In view of the fact that the Railway Labor Act provides an orderly, efficient and complete remedy for the fair and just settlement of the matters in dispute. Grievances of the character here under discussion are so numerous and of such frequent occurrence on all railroads that the general adoption of the policy pursued by the organizations in this case would soon result in the complete nullification of the Railway Labor Act..."

WHY THE MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILROAD STRIKE?
Obviously the railroads cannot be run efficiently or economically if the leaders of the unions ignore agreements or laws.

Provisions of the Law Which Are Disregarded
There are five ways under the Railway Labor Act to settle disputes over the meaning of contracts:
1—Decision by National Railroad Adjustment Board.
2—Decision by System Adjustment Board for the specific railroad.
3—Decision by arbitration.
4—Decision by neutral referee.
5—Decision by courts.
The Missouri Pacific Railroad has been and is entirely willing to have these disputes settled in accordance with the requirements of the Railway Labor Act. Regardless of this fact, the union leaders have shut down that railroad.

Innocent Bystanders Suffer Losses and Hardships
There are about 5,000 engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen on the Missouri Pacific. They are known as "operating" employees, and are the most highly paid of all employees on the nation's railroads, but their strike action has resulted in the loss of work to 22,500 other employees of the Missouri Pacific. In addition, they have imposed great inconvenience and hardship upon the public and the communities served by that railroad.
The Railway Labor Act was designed to protect the public against just such interruptions of commerce.
If these men will not comply with the provisions of the law for the settlement of such disputes, then all thinking Americans must face the question, "What is the next step?"

Kansas-Iowa State of Big 7 Open Season

Jayhawks Meet TCU, While Cyclones Will Open With Dubuque

By Skipper Patrick
LAWRENCE, Kas., Sept. 16—(P)—Coach Jules V. Sikes should have a fairly good idea Saturday night of how his Kansas Jayhawks will fare in football this fall.

Kansas opens its schedule against Texas Christian university here tomorrow. It will be the seventh meeting of the two and their sixth season inaugural. Sikes, the slow-talking Southerner who coached Kansas to a 7-3 record last year after most of the stars of the two previous co-championship seasons had departed, has only fourteen lettermen — smallest crop in the Big Seven conference.

Key Positions
The veterans, however are spotted in key positions and the Jayhawks are a bit deeper than a year ago, thanks to a better than average sophomore crop.

The Jayhawks have never beaten TCU, although they gained two ties. Last year they lost, 13-14, when they were doped to lose by four touchdowns.

Quarterback Dick Gilman, who threw 14 touchdown passes in 1948, and Forrest Griffith, a great fullback, figure to carry Kansas' scoring punch this season. First class assistance is expected from Willi Modrcin who played for St. Mary's (Calif.) in 1946 and 1947.

Just how well the Kansas line, which will average around 197, will stand up this season may be determined in the TCU game. The Jayhawk forewall will have the problem of bottling up the Frogs' captain, quarterback Lindy Berry, who was first in the southwest and fourth in the nation in total offense last fall.

204-Pounder In Defense
Dick Tomlinson, a durable 204-pounder who made the all-conference team last year will spearhead the defense from his guard spot.

Only one other Big Seven team — Iowa State — has a game tomorrow.

Coach Abe Stuber indicated he would start an all-veteran backfield in his Iowa State Cyclones' opener with Dubuque (Iowa) university. They are Bill Weeks, quarterback; Lorne Paulson and Bob Angle, halfbacks and Bill Chauncey, fullback.

Nebraska Cornhuskers were greeted with the good news that prize sophomore backs Rich Yost and Ron Clark had been given a clean slate by the university scholastic committee. The Huskers resumed drills at Lincoln after preliminary work at Curtis, Nebraska.

Kansas State was prepared for an intra-squad game that was expected to attract more than 5,000, among them Gov. Frank Carlson of Kansas. A barbecue follows the football practice game at Missouri.

At Missouri, Coach Don Faurot continued to use Phil Klein in the number one quarterback slot. Faurot indicated that his starting lineup against Ohio State next week would include only one sophomore — tackle Joe Woodson.

Oklahoma, working behind the closed gates, drilled on pass defense designed to stop Ed Sonagin of Boston College, the Sooners opening foe next Friday night.

The play of three sophomores from the Chicago area is making things brighter for Coach Dallas Ward and his Colorado Buffaloes. They are Chuck Mosher, a pass catching end; Sam Catanzaro, former Chicago high school all-star center, and Jack Jorgenson, who has been promoted to a number one tackle.

the best of seven Western Association playoffs at a game apiece. Price surrendered a run to the Miners in the first inning on three hits. He gave up three more hits in the succeeding eight innings.

Minneapolis is Winning Playoffs

(By the Associated Press)
Minneapolis is out in front today with two victories to none for Indianapolis and St. Paul, the American Association champion, is squared away at 1-1 against Milwaukee in the league's post-season playoff.

The Millers beat the Indians again last night, 6-5, at Indianapolis, where they will play the third game tonight. St. Paul evened the other best-of-seven preliminary series, winning 12-2 over Milwaukee at St. Paul. Their third game will be played at Milwaukee tonight.

The Millers' Dave Barnhill won a pitching duel from Mel Queen as two Indian errors in the seventh inning, one by Queen let Minneapolis score its three runs. Dom Dellessandro hit two home runs and Nanny Fernandez hit one for the Indians.

Phil Haugstad, who pitched 22 St. Paul victories during the regular season, set down Milwaukee with nine hits. Buddy Hicks drove in six runs to lead the St. Paul assault on five Brewer hurlers.

Games tonight and probable pitchers: Minneapolis (Bailey) at Indianapolis (Lint); St. Paul (Bahr or Taylor) at Milwaukee (Epperly).

Young Challenger Plays Steady Golf

ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 16—(P)—The nineteenth hole took on a different meaning yesterday as two California girls, a sturdy campaigner from Ga and a veteran Pennsylvania competitor advanced to the semi-finals of the 49th Women's National Golf Tournament.

Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, and Dorothy Kieby of Long Beach, were forced to go that distance to eliminate their quarter final rivals. The two others, diminutive Marlene Bauer of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Mark A. Porter of Manoa, Pa., advanced with comparatively easy victories.

Miss Kirby, who will be right at home in the penultimate round as she twice has been there, defeated the comparatively unknown Mrs. John L. Hulteng of Rumford, R. I., one up on 19 holes. Miss Kieby won by the same score at the same point over Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., in another thrill-saturated match.

Fifteen year old Miss Bauer, girls' junior champion, continued to play the steadiest golf of the tournament in, eliminating dark horse Betty Mackinnon of Texarkana, Ark., 4 and 2.

Mrs. Porter, the former Dot Germain, breezed to a 7 and 6 triumph over Janet Brown, Philadelphia girl and University of Michigan student who couldn't quite get over her amazement at being around so long.

Harvesters Beat Lincoln Team

The Sedalia Harvesters duped the Lincoln Merchants softball team 5-3 Thursday night in a fast played game at Green Ridge.

All scoring was tallied in the third and first innings. Lincoln took advantage of two walks and two singles in the first to score three runs. Lyles then settled down and allowed only one hit and no runs.

Paxton singled and Riley tripled scoring two runs and Riley scored on V. Harvey's single. The Harvesters added a run in the second and third to ice the game.

Red Harvey made an outstanding catch in the sixth out in deep left center field.

The leading hitters for Sedalia were Riley, V. Harvey, and Lyles, all with two hits each. For Lincoln, Brown led with two.

Manila defeated the Windsor aggregation in the first game by the lop-sided score of 24-3. The Harvesters will play the Manila team at Green Ridge tonight for the finals.

Tigers Win First Game From Marshall

Whitfield, Ruffin Score For Sedalia; Hayes For Marshall

The Smith-Cotton Tigers got off to a good season by overpowering the Marshall Owls, 13-6 in the 1949 Gridiron opener played under the lights of Liberty Park, Thursday night before a fair size home crowd, which packed the bleachers and had them standing on the side-lines.

Marshall Loses Ball
Marshall lost the ball after keeping it four downs. Smith-Cotton took possession of the ball on the 50-yard line, and didn't turn the ball over to Marshall until after they made a touchdown. Donald Pummil, right half back carried the ball through center for a gain of 27 yards, then on the next play, Bob Ray, full back, carried the ball to Marshall's own 16-yard line. The ball finally reached Marshall's three yard line.

Dale Whitfield, left half back, carried the pigskin through center for the first goal of the game. Whitfield also made the extra point, but the first kick didn't count as the Tigers were off sides. Whitfield's second kick was also successful, making the score 7-0.

Marshall made a first and ten after receiving the kick-off, but they were held in the center of the field by the Tiger linemen. Billy McCrary made a nice pickup of Marshall's punt formation and carried the ball from S-C own 15-yard line to the center of the field. After two unsuccessful downs made by the Tigers, the first quarter ended.

The Tigers being somewhat anxious, began to receive many 15 yard set-backs, being penalized for holding which continued all through the game. Sedalia's penalties far exceeded Marshall's.

After the ball changed hands a couple of times, mostly straight line playing in the center position of the field, Marshall finally came through for a touchdown seconds before the bell rang for the half time intermission. The ball rested on Sedalia's 15-yard line after Ronnie Fidler carried the ball for Marshall from their own 45-yard line. After three downs, the ball was carried through center from the three-yard line for a touchdown made by C. H. Hayes, who was the only Marshall scorer, during the game.

Dougene Yokeley was unsuccessful in trying for the extra point. Whitfield carried the ball for the Tigers on their own 38-yard line during the kick-off. During the first down, Donald Pummil fumbled the ball which was recovered by Marshall on the Tigers' 40-yard line.

Marshall Starts Passing
Marshall began connecting with passes, and were picking up ground, until Pummil intercepted a pass intended for a Marshall man. Dowdy calling signals handed the ball to Ruffin who carried it from Sedalia's 40-yard line to Marshall's 30. A right end play, and a center plunge advanced the ball to Marshall's 15-yard line.

From the 15-yard line, Dale Ruffin, carried the ball around right end for the second Smith-Cotton touchdown; however, the kick by Whitfield was blocked, leaving the score stand 13-6 in favor of the Tigers.

Just before the third quarter ended, Ruffin carried the ball around right end for a 20 yard run, which put the ball on Marshall's own three-yard line. The Tigers had a good chance to score, but Leo Eickhoff fumbled the ball, which was recovered by Marshall. The ball left the Smith-Cotton territory when Marshall punted.

In the final quarter, Eickhoff made up for his previous fumble by making one of the most spectacular tackling plays of the game. Sedalia kicked from the 80-yard line, and Eickhoff nearly beat the ball to the end of the field. He pinned a Marshall ball carrier on the Marshall three yard line.

Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow evidently gave orders to his Tigers not to lose any passes, unless he gave the word, because not a single pass was attempted by the S-C Tigers. The Marshall Owls continually threw passes and connected some, however gains were made only on short throws.

Smith-Cotton definitely had the power all through the game and the Tigers probably could have ended the game with a higher score. If they had refrained from holding in the line. Each of such penalties caused the Tigers to back track 15 yards. The starting lineup for Marshall was Kenneth McDaniels, qb; Dougene Yokeley, rg; Bill Lynch, lg, Calton Martin, lb; John Scott, lg, who was captain; Ronnie Fidler, rlb; Berkely Hall, re; Joe Davis, rlb; Pete Dyer, rt; Overton Durrett, c; and Bob Livingston, lt.

Ernie (Tiny) Bonham, 36, (above), veteran Pittsburgh Pirates' pitcher, died in a Pittsburgh hospital where he had been operated on for appendicitis. Doctors said his death was caused by complications following the operation. (AP Wirephoto)

'Tiny' Bonham, Pitcher, Dies

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16—(P)—Big Ernie Bonham knew what was coming.

He told it in the only language he knew—baseball.

"They're hitting me all over the field and I can't get them out."

He murmured this from a hospital cot to Pittsburgh Pirate manager Billy Meyer.

Ernie died Thursday just 16 hours later.

Complications from a three-hour appendicitis operation ended the diamond career of the 36-year-old veteran Pirate pitcher.

Dr. Norman C. Ochsenschurt said Ernie's heart collapsed.

Ernie's wife, Ruth, who flew here from their Sacramento, Calif., home, was at his bedside. Meyer and Pirate Coach Goldie Holt rushed to the hospital when they learned Bonham was sinking. They arrived seconds too late.

Bonham, jokingly dubbed "Tiny" because of his massive 210 pounds, six foot frame, was believed to be recovering. He took a turn for the worse yesterday and was placed in an oxygen tent.

Stunned teammates had difficulty believing the news. "I can't believe it," said Ralph Kiner. "Rip Sewell and I went to see him after Wednesday's game and while he didn't look too good he assured us he would be up and about soon."

"As we left, he said 'so long Rip, I'm going to make it.'"

nie Dowdy, center; Myron Herrick, lb; Dale Whitfield, lb; and Gene Dowdy, calling the signals at quarterback.

The officials of the game were Clarence Whitman, referee, Jack Cunningham, umpire, Morrow Mason, head linesman. Marshall's head coach is Alva Baker. The average weight of the Tigers' starting lineup was 174 lbs., compared to 165 for Marshall. The average weight of the whole S-C team is 185 pounds, compared to 174 last year. Seven lettermen were on the S-C squad. The starting lineup consisted of about ten seniors.

During the half time, Smith-Cotton's band, directed by Miss Jerry Teufel gave out with some peppy music and performed fancy maneuvers around the gridiron. The Spizz club, consisting of all girls dressed in gold and black uniforms, marched with the band.

Joan Cummings was crowned queen by Bill Franklin, president of the Student Council. Her attendants and their escorts were Joan Pasley, escorted by Delbert Bryant; Margie Cummings, escorted by Harold Jones; Shirley Smith, escorted by Gary Cox and Ruth Waters by Chester O'Bannon. Miss Cummings escort was Charles Phillips.

Following the game the Smith-Cotton students enjoyed a coronation dance at the Convention hall.

Semi-Finals in Tennis Tourney

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16—(P)—Duels for the men's singles crown of the annual Pacific Southwest Tennis championships are running true to form.

National champion Richard (Pancho) Gonzales was paired against Eric Struggess of South Africa and Wimbledon ruler Ted Schroeder renews his net rivalry with veteran Frank Parker tomorrow.

Both matches are semi-finals and if form continues to prevail Gonzales and Schroeder will take up where they left off in the recent Nationals at Forest Hills, where Pancho scored an upset over Ted.

Schroeder reached the semi-finals with a 6-4, 1-6, 7-5, 6-2 win over Herb Flam yesterday and Parker scored an easy 6-3, 6-4, 7-5 triumph over Earl Cochrill. Gonzales and Struggess previously had reached the round.

Yanks Defense Collapsed And Indians Win

One Game Played In American League; National League Idle

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—(P)—The New York defense collapsed yesterday, the Yanks committing five errors, and the Cleveland Indians made the most of the miscues as they rolled up a 10-6 triumph.

The setback cut the Yanks' American league advantage over the Boston Red Sox to two and one half games. The Red Sox, along with the rest of the major league teams, were idle.

Bob Lemon received credit for his 20th victory but needed help from big Al Benton in the eighth when the Yanks threatened to null the game out of the fire.

Lemon Wins 20th Game
Lemon is the majors' third 20-game winner this season. The other two are Mel Parnell and Ellis Kinder of the challenging Red Sox.

The Indians spotted the Yanks two runs in the first inning on Phil Rizzuto's double, a ground out, a walk, error and fly ball before Cleveland reached pay dirt against Allie Reynolds in the third.

Cleveland loaded the bases in the third without a hit and before a man was retired. Rizzuto's error, a fielder's choice and a sacrifice and fielder's choice jammed the bases.

Dale Mitchell grounded out, one run scoring on the play. Lou Boudreau followed with a single to right to score Jim Hegan with the tying run but Mickey Vernon grounded into a double play to end the rally.

Larry Doby smashed his 22nd homer in the sixth inning to break the tie and the Indians were never headed.

The Indians slammed Reynolds for five runs in the eighth inning to take a commanding 8-2 lead. With two out and two on via walks, the Indians rapped Reynolds for five straight singles before Lemon fanned to end the rally.

Yanks Score Four In Eighth
Apparently the rally cooled off Lemon, for the Yanks quickly tagged the righthander for four runs in their half to get back into the game.

Lemon walked Rizzuto to start the eighth and Cliff Mages followed with a line drive homer into the rightfield stands. Bobby Brown flied out and Joe DiMaggio followed with a grounder to Boudreau but as the shortstop was ready to field the ball, it took a hop and sailed past Boudreau's right ear into left center field. Yogi Berra followed with a homer into the Yankees bullpen in right and Lemon was through.

Benton nailed the next two batters and the Indians gave Benton two more runs in the ninth on Bobby Brown's two base error, a single, sacrifice and another one-bagger. Benton's retired the Yanks on one hit in the ninth, Rizzuto ending the

College Football Crowds Into National Sports on Saturday

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—(P)—While the big autumn show does not get rolling full furnace until next week, the rah rah boys will have some major games to enthuse over. Foremost of these will be the Pacific Coast conference tussle between Oregon State and UCLA tonight in huge Los Angeles coliseum.

The Uclans, who managed only three victories in 10 tries last year, will have Henry (Red) Sanders, formerly of Vanderbilt, at the coaching helm.

Sanders, an exponent of the modified punt formation, will pit his genius against "Kip" Taylor's midwestern razzle-dazzle style. Taylor, who shifted from Michigan State last spring, will attempt to emulate last season's 28-0 drubbing handed the Bruins. Oregon State had a mediocre 4-4-3 record last year.

Games Tonight
Other prime action tonight will see St. Mary's playing host to Oregon at San Francisco and Furman visiting Georgia's Bulldogs at Athens, Ga.

A highlight of Saturday's afternoon play will be the Texas Christian-Kansas embroilment at Lawrence, Kas. After bowing game by banging into a double play.

The victory enabled the Indians to regain third place from the idle Detroit Tigers, six and one-half games back of the Yanks.

Detroit invades the stadium for a two game series starting tomorrow while the runner-up Red Sox, entertain the seventh place St. Louis Browns in the opener of a two game set.
